The Ontario and Saskatchewan Land Corporation, Limited

THIS Corporation has been formed to deal in Western lands. Up to a few months ago, practically the whole profit from dealing in the lands in the great western portion of our country had been reaped by shrewd American investors, who realized the immense possibilities and the certain future of Western Canada before we Canadians realized the immense heritage which lay within the boundaries of our own country. In the last months of the year 1902, however, the promoters of this Corporation having, through the different financial institutions with which they are connected, been obliged to make a careful study of the western situation, became so thoroughly satisfied of the certain future of the Great West and of the practically assured profit from an investment in Western lands that they decided to form a Company to deal in lands in the Canadian West. With that end in view, a block of something over 125,000 acres was secured in the Big Quill Plains in the District of Saskatchewan, and a Company known as the Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, was formed for the purpose of acquiring and handling this block. The stock of the Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, was placed upon the market and offered to the public for subscription in January of the present year, and so prompt was the response that within one month it was necessary to close the Stock Books, and even then applications for a large quantity of stock were refused, but, from a shareholder's standpoint, the best part remains to be told. Before the sales of stock were stopped, arrangements had been made with a large American Land Company for the sale of the whole of the Company's lands at a price so largely in excess of the purchase price, that the stock of The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, is already a very profitable one, and is held very firmly by its present holders; and all this was done in less than one month. Can any better proof be given of the wisdom of an investment in Western Lands? At the time The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, was dealing with the Quill Plain lands, the Directors had in view several other available blocks of land and were having the same carefully examined, but waited until the result of the one operation proved to the Canadian public the safety and profit of an investment of this kind. This has now been abundantly shown by the success of The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, and we have therefore no hesitation in placing before the public the stock of The Ontario and Saskatchewan Land Corporation, Limited.

For many years past, capitalists of the Eastern States invested in lands in the Great Western portion of their country, and with such success that lands in Iowa, for instance, that twenty years ago sold for less than $5.00 per acre are now selling for $50.00, $60.00, $75.00 and $100.00. Many men thus accumulated fortunes with but a minimum of outlay.

But the Western States are now practically filled up, and there is no longer room for speculation in the lands of that great country. As a consequence, the people of the United States are looking for new fields, and seeing the great resources of our Great West, are now turning their attention that way in ever-growing numbers and increasing their investments therein.

Syndicates of their capitalists are day after day buying huge blocks of land in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories and holding for the rise which they know is bound to come. In addition, many American Land Companies have been, and are being, formed for the sole purpose of dealing in these lands and, indeed, the largest investors in lands in the Province and Territories at the present time by all odds are these Companies.

The Saskatchewan Valley Land Company of St. Paul, Minn., purchased over one million acres of land in the Saskatchewan Valley, which they have already, in one year, sold, realizing a profit of some millions of dollars. The Haslam Land and Investment Company owned about 300,000 acres which they disposed of in less than one year. In addition to these, The Northwest Colonization Company of St. Paul, which owned nearly one million acres, has made large sales covering hundreds of thousands of acres, while many other American companies, syndicates and individuals hold immense interests in our great West country and are daily increasing them, and, indeed, with the exception of The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, almost the entire profit from dealing in Northwest lands up to date has been made by Americans.

Justified, therefore, by the result of our prior operations, we have every confidence in offering to the Canadian public the stock of this Company, as the development of our own country should not be left entirely to the people of the United States.

Photograph Showing Growth in the West.

The Government reports show that immigration to the West is increasing daily, and no one now feels any doubt but that that country will rapidly fill up ; consequently lands purchased now are certain to return a handsome profit on the investment. There is no element of risk connected with this investment, as the sole purpose of the Company is to buy and sell lands, and nothing of a hazardous nature is permitted by our Charter.

An investment of this kind should appeal especially to the farmer, as he well knows that land is the basis of all security, and knowing the country and its certain future, he must also be aware that our operations are bound to result in a profit to the shareholders.

Many Ontario private individuals have, during the past year, been dealing in these lands on their own account, and have invariably met with success in their operations. Our plan is only an extension of this principle.

THE VERMILLION RIVER DISTRICT

It has been a tradition for years in the West that the most fertile belt of land in Canada, and therefore in the world, is situate in the western portion of Saskatchewan and the northern part of Alberta, in that District known as the Vermillion River. This District lies along and between the Battle River to the south and the Saskatchewan on the north. In this fertile country we have secured a large block of land, and have the right to select 300,000 acres of land to be specially chosen. The land experts are now in the district examining it section by section for the purpose of choosing the best portions. In the selection of land many considerations must enter into the reasons for the choice, of these, the most important are :—

- |                          |                    |
|--------------------------|--------------------|
| 1. Railway communication | 4. Grass or Hay    |
| 2. Soil                  | 5. Timber and Fuel |
| 3. Water                 |                    |

RAILWAYS In selecting land, the Directors of this Corporation have always had the above matters in sight, and, as may be seen from the accompanying map, the lands of the Company will lie along and between the Edmonton Branch of the C. P. R. and the transcontinental line of the Canadian Northern Railway, thus assuring to the farmers in our District the immense advantage of two competing lines of railway each within easy access to their farms, and bringing them into close communication with markets.

A Cattle Ranch in Saskatchewan.

SOIL The soil in the District chosen by the Corporation is a rich black loam on a clay subsoil, and, as will be seen by the accompanying reports, no better soil for Wheat raising is obtainable in the world, and Wheat is King.

WATER As to this most valuable and indispensable element, it is only necessary to refer to the map accompanying this prospectus to be completely satisfied. Lakes, streams and creeks abound in the District and all of sweet and palatable water. This is of course most important from a farmer's standpoint. Good soil without good water is worse than useless.

GRASS OR HAY There is no portion of the Northwest better situated in this respect than the Vermillion River District. The surface is generally undulating and the country is covered with a luxuriant growth of grass, providing a constant and ample supply of hay for winter use.

FUEL All along the banks of the Battle River and the numerous lakes and rivers of this District there is an abundant supply of wood for fuel, and timber for building is provided by nature in convenient localities to supply the wants of the settler. But this is not all, coal, the fuel of nations, when wood has disappeared, is everywhere obtainable in the District, within easy distance and in inexhaustible quantities. In view of the coal question in the East, it is almost marvellous to think of the farmer taking his wagon and in a few hours removing from the supply of mother earth, not with the help of miners, but by his own labor, his winter's supply of fuel, but this is what he may do in many sections of the fertile and all-providing prairies of Western Saskatchewan. In addition to this, an abundance of good building stone is obtainable in the District.

As long ago as 1814, Gabriel Franchere, the eminent French explorer, in his narrative of a trip through this District (Narrative of a Voyage to the Northwest Coast of America in the years 1811, 1812, 1813 and 1814, by Gabriel Franchere, English Edition, New York, 1854) says: "The River Saskatchewan flows over a bed composed of sand and marl which "contribute not a little to diminish the purity and transparency of its waters, which like those of the Missouri, are turbid "and whitish; except for that, it is one of the prettiest rivers in the world. The banks are perfectly charming and offer in "many places a scene, the fairest and most smiling and the best diversified that can be seen or imagined. How comes it "to pass, I said to myself, that so beautiful a country is not inhabited by human creatures? The songs, the hymns, the "prayers of the laborer and the artisan, shall they never be heard in these fine plains? Wherefore, while in Europe and "above all in England, so many men do not possess as their own an inch of ground, and cultivate the soil of their country

A Typical Western Wheat Field.

“for proprietors who scarcely leave them whereupon to support existence ; wherefore do so many millions of acres of “ apparently fat and fertile land remain uncultivated and absolutely useless ? ”

But now, all this is changed, settlers are pouring in, and that which heretofore has been a wilderness given up to the elk and the buffalo, is, with a rapidity unexampled in the world's history, becoming a land in which the reaper and the thresher are heard in place of the great silence of nature. Settlers from the States are pouring in in their thousands, and at last our mother country has awakened to the greatness of our undeveloped wealth and is now turning her eyes steadfastly to the new West.

The Steamship lines have already this year, as early as the end of February, been obliged to refuse all future bookings for Canada, as the full capacity of their boats has been reached for the season. What a future this shows for Canada's West and Western lands. Sir William Mulock, Postmaster General of Canada, in his speech at Toronto on 23rd March, 1903, quoted the Dominion Statistician as follows, with regard to the population of Manitoba and the Territories : “ Establishing the population of Manitoba and the Northwest at 684,103 in 1902, and accepting the increase in immigration “ in 1902 over 1901 as the standard of the future, the population would be over fifteen hundred thousand in 1907, and in “ five years more over three million, two hundred and fifty thousand.” Sir William then went on to say : “ 1907 is not far “ in the future and each steamship arrival from Europe reports its hundreds and hundreds of immigrants for settlement in “ the Territories. Now, when our resources are known, is there any reason to fear that immigration will fall or cease, but “ might we not rather anticipate its assuming increasing proportions ? ”

THE BARR SETTLEMENT

Immediately to the north and adjoining the lands of The Ontario and Saskatchewan Land Corporation, Limited, are the lands of the Barr Settlement of British people. Already over 10,000 people have contracted to leave Great Britain to join this settlement and 2,000 are now on the ocean. The Rev. Mr. Barr, the head of this movement, was for many years a resident of the Northwest, and chose this District after a wide and careful investigation as the best in the Northwest. This is a fair evidence of the judgment of the Directors in locating the lands of The Ontario and Saskatchewan Land Corporation, Limited, in the Vermillion River District, and the large English settlement immediately adjoining should at once enhance the value of the lands of the Company. The strength of this movement is shown by the fact that these settlers have already transferred from English to Canadian banks over $2,500,000

REPORT TO THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT OF THE COUNTRY BETWEEN THE BATTLE AND NORTH SASKATCHEWAN RIVERS, BY J. B. TYRRELL, B.A., F.G.S.

“ Lying north of Battle River and south of the North Saskatchewan is the western portion of what has been known
“ for a long time as the ‘Great Fertile Belt’ which stretches from the edge of the northern forest to the northern limit of
“ the plain to the south. The District now under consideration consists of over six million acres of fertile land, partly “ covered with a growth of poplar and willow, but with everywhere, more or less, extensive tracts of open country covered
“ with luxuriant grass and herbage ready to be used as pasture land, ready to furnish an abundant supply of hay for winter use,
“ or to be broken by the plough. In the southern portion of this District, which is drained by Battle River and the “ small streams which flow into it, the extent of prairie is very largely in excess of the woodland. The surface is “ generally undulating and the soil is a rich sandy loam. Water is abundant through lakelets and small streams,
“ though nowhere is there wet land that could not be readily drained.”

Prof. Macoun, for nine years Government Explorer of the Northwest (“Manitoba and the Great Northwest,” by John Macoun, M.A., F.L.S., page 109), in speaking of this country, says: “This tract is unsurpassed in the North“ west for its capacity to grow Wheat, as the soil is rich, the surface is almost level and what slope there is “ inclines to the south.”

Ernest W. Hubble, in his report to the Department of the Interior of the survey in Edmonton District in 1894 (see Report, page 83), referring to the Vermillion Valley, says: “This is a most picturesque valley and bids fair in time to be “ one of the ‘gardens’ of Northern Alberta. The alluvial soil is rich and deep; abundantly watered by the Vermillion “ River and numerous lakes and streams on which myriads of wild fowl make their homes. Luxuriant grass and pea vines “ afford abundant fodder for cattle, on which some enterprising Americans have already imported large herds. I venture to “ prophesy that within a few years this District will be one of the finest farming Districts and one of the best populated “ Districts in Northern Alberta.”

The Trend of Immigration

Few people in Eastern Canada realize the enormous proportions to which the influx of people from the United States to Canada has grown. Thousands upon thousands of Americans came into our Great West country last year, and many more thousands will come in this year, and so on each succeeding year in ever-increasing numbers, for they have realized the immense resources of our country before we have ascertained them for ourselves. Surely we need not leave all the harvest of money in lands to be made by our American cousins, shrewd though they be.

This influx may be called a migration rather than immigration. The farmer in the East buys the land of the farmer in Illinois at $150.00 per acre ; the Illinois farmer sells and moves to Iowa, where he in turn buys at $100.00 per acre ; the Iowa farmer disposes of his property and migrates to Southern Minnesota where he buys at $50.00 per acre ; the farmer in Southern Minnesota moves to Northern Minnesota and the Dakotas where he purchases at from $8.00 to $35.00 per acre, while the owner of the land in Northern Minnesota and the Dakotas comes into Western Canada, where he buys better and more productive lands than any of these at from $8.00 to $15.00 per acre ; and so the movement, which is to fill our great country, goes on.

Don't be Skeptical
Be a Canadian and Believe in Your Own Country
It Will be to Your Advantage

This article was contained in the Prospectus of The Eastern and Western Land Corporation, Limited, and in view of the successful operations of that Company and the increasing confidence of the Directors in investments in Western lands, it is copied again here. Lands in the Canadian Northwest will increase in value year by year; they will certainly never be lower in price than they are now, and the time to buy lands as an investment is when they are low.

Do you believe that The Grand Trunk Railway, The Canadian Northern Railway and Trans-Canadian Railway would all build lines across the Canadian country to compete with the Canadian Pacific Railway, unless the Directors of these roads believed implicitly in the future of the country? And these are the capitalists and the most far-seeing men of our country! Did it ever occur to you that nine-tenths of the wealthy farmers of to-day are those who bought land in their own communities when it was cheap?

Has it occurred to you that the Americans are coming into this country in thousands? Have you realized that there are few more good lands available in the States? That with the population of the States increasing by leaps and bounds they must find some outlet? The population doubles every twenty-five years. In the next twenty-five years seventy-five million people can come from the United States to Canada, and still the United States will be as thickly populated as to-day. In the next five years the United States will send into Canada many hundreds of thousands of people, and this does not, of course, take into account the large and increasing immigration from Europe and Great Britain. Have you thought what this means for Canada and Western lands?
